

Helping you send the right delivery message

A guide for updating your website and customer emails with the latest delivery information.

As an online retailer, you want to provide your customers with a great experience, every time.

With delivery the final step in the shopping journey, it's important to set clear expectations with shoppers around delivery estimates, when their orders are sent and how to track them.

That's why we've created this guide, which contains the latest Australia Post delivery information and descriptions of each of our services.

To get started, simply refer to the messaging templates on the pages following. You can use the brief version of the message on your checkout page, longer version for customer emails, plus there are detailed messages for your FAQ pages.

* While we endeavour to meet this timetable, the actual delivery speed depends on where in each state/territory the item is being posted from/to, and the level of congestion in our delivery network at the time. All delivery times are based on the number of business days items take to arrive following the day of posting. Some rural areas have longer delivery times. See here for specific details.
